The objective of this research is to find out the empirical evidence of the effectiveness of pair work technique in improving students' descriptive writing. The writer used an experimental method. The population of this research was the students of MTs AL- SA' ADAH Pondok Aren South Tangerang. The samples were taken from two classes of the eighth grade. The writer took 25 students for the samples in experiment class and 25 students in control class. In this research the treatment was done for six times and was ended with post-test by the writer. The data that the writer got from the research were using the t-test formula.

From the result of computation of the data, it was found the t observed 4.11 and t table 1.68. Because $t_o > t_t$, it means the H_o is rejected and the H_i is accepted. So it can be concluded that the use of pair work technique in improving students' descriptive writing is effective.
